

Journalism 180 Guide to Enrollment and Credit Hour Eligibility

The University of Southern Indiana (USI) course Journalism 180, Journalism Workshop, is a one credit hour practicum course that can be taken multiple times, both by USI and CAP students. Enrolling in JRN 180 more than once allows students to continue building skills and learning different aspects of journalism. A CAP student may earn up to 2 hours of JRN 180 credit (1 credit hour per section) during junior and senior years. The graphic below shows the different options for students in a CAP JRN 180 classroom.

Juniors and returning seniors should request one credit hour of JRN 180 by writing '1 hr JRN 180' on their Student Permission Form. New seniors can request two hours of JRN 180 by writing '2 hrs JRN 180' on their Student Permission Form. Each credit hour earned requires a specific number of hours of work.
